MISSION STATEMENT

To assist bereaved family members with problems faced when a loved one dies without revealing adequate information about in-force life insurance.

To assist deserving family members to locate records and information that was previously unknown to them.

To respond quickly and personally to inquiries received from potential beneficiaries of lost life insurance policies in a friendly and personal way, without cost, when possible.

To provide the general public and probate attorneys with a low-cost, highly efficient means to find death benefits, pension benefits, and annuity values for deceased clients' family members.

To assist attorneys and estate settlement officers to discern facts about total worth of estates for probate and to discharge obligations to provide due diligence to clients before estates are formally closed.

To assist Law Enforcement officers to eliminate the possible motive of wrongdoing for financial gain inherent in investigations of unusual death.

To uncover fraud: Do you "feel" that somebody has put a life insurance policy on your life without your knowledge?
